Kappa Sigma Friends Helped Goodhew '61 Make It Through The Grind Of Tech

In 1995, Bill Goodhew '61 was inducted into the Georgia Technology Hall of Fame. He's an engineer, a corporate partner, a husband, a church leader and a friend to many of his Kappa Sigma brothers. This brief interview with Bill is part of an ongoing series designed to help us get to know our Brothers better. If you know a Brother that would make a good profile subject, please send his name and graduation year, along with your name and graduation year to our alumni relations service: news@2stayconnected.com. Make sure to mention that it's for Kappa Sigma, Georgia Tech.

Why did you join the fraternity?

Kappa Sigma was like a home away from home.

Tell us about your favorite memory of the fraternity.

There are so many memories because my Brothers were a wonderful group of guys. I've kept up with many of them through all these years.

Did you live in the house? If so, who were your roommates? Tell us about a memorable time with them.

Tommy Transou '58 was my roommate. We were really good friends. We both found Tech to be extremely challenging and helped each other during many tough times. He has now passed away.

What is your nickname, if applicable, and how did you get it?

In college, they called me Billy.

With whom do you still stay in contact? Who would you most like to find?

Jim Harden '60 and I have been good friends for a long time. I also stay in touch with Dave Christian '60, Geoff Gill '64, Don House '63 and Bill Moore '66. I just recently was looking for Jimmy Edwards '60. I know he's an architect in Raleigh, North Carolina but haven't heard from him in quite a while.

What other activities or organizations were you involved with during your college days?

I was involved with the Georgia Tech Engineer, a campus engineering magazine back then. Other than that, the fraternity took up a lot of time.

What kind of influence has the fraternity had on your life since graduation?

As the name implies, the fraternity is a fraternal organization and provided a lifetime of friends. At Georgia Tech, if you didn't join a fraternity or some other organized group, you'd be on your own. We used to say that Tech is kind of a grind. Kappa Sigma provided ready-made friends, and many of those friendships have lasted.

Tell us about your family: Have you married? Do you have children?

When I 'got out' of Tech – people don't say graduated from

Kappa Sigma Softball Classic Benefits Children's Cancer Center

By David Archer '96

The annual Kappa Sigma Softball Classic was organized by the Alpha Tau Chapter and was held March 23 in Atlanta. Undergraduate and alumni teams from across the Southeast and as far away as Saint Louis, Mo., participated in the tournament. The weather was perfect for softball, and the games went on all day.

The Alpha Tau Alumni Team, led by ace pitcher Matt Bearden '95 and star shortstop Jason Johnson '97, went undefeated to take home the coveted trophy, which will be displayed in the house trophy case. Key hits by Charlie McPhail '96, Jason Millard '94, and Michael Castro '96 propelled the aging alumni past a strong West Georgia team in the semi-finals. The team later torched the Alpha Tau undergrads for 17 runs in the final game to clinch victory.

The tournament also included the Chud Division of Beer Leaguers. Alpha Tau was represented here as well, and key errors were turned in by Guy Looney '96, Chris Finke '94, Cliff Wang '96, Bill Freese '72 or sometime in the '80s) and Tim Sullivan '94. BIG SILVER CAN '92 played right field for the team, and served as team mascot.

The event benefited the AFLAC Children's Cancer Treatment Center and the Ronald McDonald House in Atlanta. Through T-shirt sales and individual giving, a significant donation was made to these charities in connection with the tournament. For information about further charitable donations, or next year's tournament, or to get a great T-shirt designed by Michael Pouncey '94, please contact the house. Thanks to all involved.

Alumni Updates

Gordon B. Claude '40 (5950 N. Camino Arizpe, Tucson, AZ 85718) is a Retired Brig. General, U.S. Army. His oldest grandson in Richmond, VA, is the father of a healthy little girl. That makes him now a great grandfather!

Col. Joseph P. (Joe) Sullivan '51 (1407 Jackson Keller Rd., Ste. 5, San Antonio, TX 78213; jsulliva@accd.edu) is a professor of psychology at San Antonio College. He would like to give more at this time but his wife Carla and he are trying to build a new home in Sharano Park in San Antonio. They were sorry not to be able to be there for Homecoming for the 50th GT anniversary. He would like to express his appreciation for his friends and brothers of Kappa Sigma.

Fred E. Rogers, Jr. '53 (2601 Tyler Rd., Birmingham, AL 35226) is a retired district manager of Alabama Power Co. He had a good visit with brother W. Rex Hawkins '53 recently at their wives' Decatur High School reunion party. Rex and he agreed to meet again at their '53 class 50th reunion in 2003. They hope all the '53 Kappa Sigma brothers will join them there.

George F. Longino III '61 (3505 Harvard Ave., Dallas, TX 75205) The big 40, the big 50, and the big 60 all passed, but on his 61st he retired from Smith Barney after 35 years in the investment business. His last 20 years were spent managing the Dallas Crescent office for the firm. His wife Lisa and he are now naturalized citizens of the great state of Texas, listening to country and western music, going to rodeos, etc. Of their four children, three are college grads and on their own. One is a psychologist in California, one is a sound production engineer in Atlanta, and one is working full time for Raleigh, NC, YMCA as a program director at Camp Sea Gull. Their youngest, Fleming, 14, is a 9th grader, cross-country runner and horse woman. George is following in his community volunteer wife Lisa's footsteps, active in their church, Dallas Symphony and learning Spanish in order to work with young Hispanic kids. He would love to hear from any brothers in the Dallas area.

Also, they have a cabin on Lake Rabon, the location of so many fun house parties, where Howard H. Arnold '61 learned to drive in the mountains and where Squirts learned to follow a beer cooler head first off the roof of the chalet to the ground!

William M. Gibson '62 (4779 Sedberry Hill Ct. NW, Atlanta, GA; wgibson@mindspring.com) is a retired captain from Delta Air Lines, Inc. "Retirement is great!" He went on a two-week golfing/single-malt scotch/Cuban cigar trip to Scotland this summer with his son, followed by a 10-day Caribou/Arctic lake trout hunting and fishing trip to Quebec in late summer. He plans to go bird hunting in January. They have their fifth grandchild who is their first grandson.

William H. Hocutt '64 (Snee Farm, 1192 Farm Quarter Rd., Mount Pleasant, SC 29464; pshocutt@msn.com) is retired from both the Navy (civil service) and U.S. Army reserve, traveling, playing golf, and enjoying life. He has a wife of 35 years, four children and one granddaughter.

James K. Sands '67 (1515 N. Shore Rd., Norfolk, VA 23505; sandsjk@evms.edu) is director/auxiliary services, Eastern Virginia Medical School. A close friend is on the board of visitors at UVA, so he will be in the President's box (UVA) for this year's game in Charlottesville. Go, Jackets!

William A. Westcott '73 (18 Mistyhaven Pl., The Woodlands, TX 77381; westctt@swbell.net) is currently the marketing manager-U.S. for the Norwegian company DSND, located in Houston, TX, and looking to move back to the Atlanta area, if possible.

Edward G. Theobald '74 (316 Hampton Ridge Rd., Norcross, GA 30093-1858; ed@edtheobald.com) sends his greetings from Stone Mountain. His big brother is Gregory T. Davis '73. He roomed with Baxter L. Whitaker Jr. '74. Remember Jennie McKnight? They married, had two kids and then after 19 years, she divorced him. His son was initiated as a Kappa

Mike 'Sponge' Dudgeon '89 Shares Memories Of Music, Friends And The Skills He Learned At Kappa Sigma

Led Zeppelin blaring out from the house, hanging out with brothers in the lobby, consuming a beverage or two... It doesn't get much better than that according to The Sponge. Mike Dudgeon '89 remembers good times and good friends. Even today, a few of his fraternity brothers are still some of his best friends. Mike's interview is part of an ongoing series designed to help us get to know our Brothers better. If you know a Brother who would make a good profile subject, please send his name and graduation year, along with your name and graduation year to our alumni relations service: news@2stayconnected.com. Make sure to mention that it's for Kappa Sigma, Georgia Tech.

Why did you join?

I did not come to Tech with my mind made up about rushing. I met some Brothers — Rob Craig '86 and Eric Fawcett '87 — during FASET and I made it a point to find them at Kappa Sigma during rush. I felt Kappa Sigma was more of a 'real' group of guys than most of the other fraternities.

Tell us about your favorite memory of the fraternity.

On Friday afternoons in the late '80s, we would put our huge speakers on the roof and crank up Led Zeppelin, Van Halen, Boston, or other high-energy rock and roll. When walking home from class, you could hear the music well before you got back to the house — it almost made you run the rest of the way home. We would hang out in the lobby, drink, and just joke or laugh. Sometimes the lobby furniture was out on the grass and we would hang out there. In general, my favorite memories are just hanging out with the guys, mostly in the lobby, and just laughing our butts off about whatever the topic was. I'll also never forget wars with the Fijis, Luau's, and Black and White formals.

Did you live in the house? If so, who were your roommates? Tell us about a memorable time with them.

I lived in the house for three years. My roommates were Pat Hunter '87, Tom Potosnak '88, Mark Ramberger '88, and Alan Seidemann '90. Most of my memories of those times probably wouldn't come across correctly 15 years later. ;-)

What is your nickname, if applicable, and how did you get it?

Sponge. I got it while I was a pledge because I would 'soak up' certain beverages. I was doing something during lunch and one of the Brothers said "Mike get a sponge" and someone else said "Sponge!" and then it stuck. I dressed up as a sponge for my freshman Halloween party. Later some things happened at parties where I acted like a sponge but those came after the nickname.

With whom do you still stay in contact? Who would you most like to find?

I stay in regular contact with Jimmy Fortuna '91 (with whom I have worked for many years), Derik Davis '90, and Robb Stanek '90. There are many others in the Atlanta area I see often. It would be interesting to hear from some of the guys in my pledge class who moved away, like Eric Reitler '89 and Jim McLaughlin '90.

What other activities or organizations were you involved with during your college days?

I was pretty busy — I was IFC treasurer and then president, and a teachers assistant for physics and calculus. I also ran a computer lab in the EE department. I refereed intramurals. During my senior year, I was the head referee and booked all the games.

What kind of influence has the fraternity had on your life since graduation?

I am absolutely convinced that the experience of being GT and GM of the fraternity gave me a big head start in the business world in learning how to deal with people and be a leader. My friends from the chapter also have been involved with my jobs.

Tell us about your family: Have you married? Do you have children?

I have been married for almost ten years and have three boys — ages 7, 4, and 2. We live in South Forsyth County, north of Atlanta.

What do you do for a living?

I have been a hardware/software design engineer for most of my years since graduation. I helped build Radiant Systems, a startup company, into a successful business where I was running a 25-person engineering group. Recently, I went out on my own and have my own business as an independent contractor. I am staying busy.

What affiliations do you currently have and/or public service do you participate in?

I have refereed high school basketball in the Atlanta area for 12 years. That is one of my favorite distractions. I also have been the treasurer of the House Corporation for ten years.

What hobbies do you enjoy?

Golf, playing with my kids, reading, going to the beach, libertarian philosophy.

What are your goals for the next few years?

Build my business to the point where I only have to work ten months out of the year; teach my kids at least one sport each; and get active in setting the curriculum in the public schools.

Lady Alexis of Alpha Tau, Kappa Sigma

By Scott Cleland

Records indicate that the Brothers of Alpha Tau have been caring for dogs since the early '50s. At that time, Alpha Taus called 707 Williams Street home and their first dog was Caduceus. In 1963, Bleu became Alpha Tau's best friend, and he witnessed many a good time during his day. Samantha, then Lady followed Bleu's tour of duty. Apparently, Lady became quite a campus celebrity and attended more hours of class than some brothers.

More than a decade in a fraternity house can take its toll on even the hardest stock of canine. As Lady's health deteriorated, Alpha Tau debated getting a new dog. A motion passed in May 1994 stated, "Be it enacted by the Alpha Tau chapter of Kappa Sigma that... We buy a new dog, as long as Lady stays, for a price approved by the chapter." In early 1995, the brothers acquired a black and tan German Shepherd named Jackie Daniels. Unfortunately, a few weeks later, Jackie Daniels found his way into some rat poison near the kitchen and died. A few weeks after the pup's death, a few brothers picked up a tiny, white German Shepherd that was named Alex. At the end of the school year, Lady's health demanded that she leave fraternity life. The parents of Brothers Michael and John Pouncey took Lady to live her remaining days comfortably on their farm.

Alex—AKC-registered as Lady Alexis of Alpha Tau of Kappa Sigma—quickly became a campus celebrity. Most of the campus knew that the now big, white shepherd belonged to the fraternity with the big white rock (the house was now located on Fowler Street). Some professors even had the honor of Alex attending their lectures, although some protested.

Alex was a true guardian of the house. The pledge class of fall 1996 thought it would be a good idea to have a pledge raid at 6 a.m. In their attempt to secure the interior doors shut with ropes and chains, Alex awoke Brother Bill Bivens, who thwarted the pledge raid with a baseball bat and a vow to depledge every pledge there. Many would-be thieves also left the premises empty-handed because of Alex's intimidation.

Unfortunately, Alex has always had health problems. Some serious gastrointestinal problems developed as a result of being fed table scraps and rummaging through garbage, which always seemed to be easily accessible. As she grew older, her hangovers lasted longer and her patience for late-night parties waned. In May of 2001, the Brothers agreed to let Alex graduate and retire after her brief six-year tenure. Lately, Alex has been suffering from poor coordination in her rear legs. After many tests at the UGA Veterinary School, Alex has been diagnosed with Degenerative Myelopathy, a condition similar to Multiple Sclerosis in humans. There is no cure for Degenerative Myelopathy and no clinically-proven treatments. The use of her rear legs will continue to deteriorate over the next several months, and she will likely have to be euthanized within a year or so.

It saddens me and many brothers to know of Alex's impending fate. But we take solace in the many good times we shared with Alex. From pledge retreats to intramurals; from rush to graduation; from keep-away in the yard to barking in a professor's class... Alex has been a loyal and honorable mascot of Alpha Tau.

Today, Alpha Tau has a black and tan German Shepherd named Rocco. While not quite full grown, he already promises to fulfill the legacy of his predecessors as a campus celebrity and best friend to many Brothers.

Please share your stories about the Alpha Tau dogs.

Do you have special memories involving any of the Alpha Tau house dogs? If so, we'd like to hear them! These canines were special to us and we'd like to record their legacy. Please send memories, tall "tails," or other thoughts about any of Kappa Sigma's best friends by logging on to www.2stayconnected.com/ks-gt, or send an e-mail to news@2stayconnected.com. Be sure to give your name and mention Kappa Sigma at Georgia Tech.

Tech – I married Joan who attended Agnes Scott College. Agnes Scott is the nearby women's college. At that time Tech only had a few women on campus. We have two children and six grandchildren who live in the Chicago area.

What do you do for a living?

I'm a partner at Intelligent Systems, a venture capital firm in Norcross, Georgia.

What affiliations do you currently have and/or public service do you participate in?

I'm the senior warden at St. Martin's Episcopal Church; on the Board of Trustees for the Georgia Tech Alumni Association; and a trustee at Agnes Scott College.

What hobbies do you enjoy?

Hiking – all over the world – and photography.

What are your goals for the next few years?

I'll hopefully be able to retire in about a year. Then we'll do more hiking and photography.

Philanthropy Brings Brothers Together

We recently conducted a brothers-only function to remind us of the ties that bind. We decided on a game called Whirlyball as it employed bumper cars, team tactics and throwing wiffle balls at each other. A tournament schedule was drawn up to recognize one ultimate Whirlyball champion team, but after a few head-to-head games, few were concerned with the standings and all wanted to be on the court. Transportation was provided by a bus service and in the middle of rolled up newspaper jousting, a picture of all involved was taken in front of the bus. Both victorious and vanquished enjoyed the evening held in the spirit of comradery.

In a joint philanthropic endeavor, we joined with Alpha Xi Delta and Alpha Chi Omega to sponsor two teams in the Relay for Life Walk-a-thon, beginning Friday, March 30, at 6 pm and ending the following Saturday morning at 7 am. Each walking member raised $100, netting $2,000 for the American Cancer Society and earning a total of 389.5 philanthropy hours for 19 brothers including several members of the chapter's EC.

Brothers Night Out: Brothers compete in the Kappa Sigma Whirlyball Challenge '02. Brother Carmichael's ('03) team, consisting of Brothers Mike Skene '03, Terrell Dozier '05, Bill Waits '06, and Will Hinson '06, took home the championship.

Brothers gather out front awaiting President Bush's arrival to Georgia Tech. The Brothers then went to nearby O'Keefe Gym to hear President Bush speak on Homeland Security. Alumni Dinner Being Reinstated To Foster Alumni Involvement

*By Mark McDonald '03
Chapter President*

As I write this, Alpha Tau is winding down another successful semester at Georgia Tech. During the Spring 2002 semester we initiated 17 quality men into our chapter. We also eagerly await the initiation of three more brothers from our spring pledge class. Acknowledgement goes to Philip Jaquith '03 and Josh Stanley '02 for their hard work and commitment toward rush and brotherhood development, respectively. I also would like to congratulate David Durovy, as he has recently been appointed Alumnus Advisor for Alpha Tau. Our chapter also has made significant strides in improving brotherhood and service to the community.

This semester welcomed the first annual Alpha Tau brotherhood retreat, which took place earlier this month. The chapter competed on the whirlyball courts of Roswell, sparking competition and a strengthening of the bonds we share as brothers. Alpha Tau is looking forward to our annual luau party, which will feature two pools and plenty of crawfish in the backyard. I would like to personally thank all alumni who came back for the 3-on-3 Basketball Tournament, and encourage future participation with the chapter.

Finally, I hope everyone has a relaxing and safe summer. I hope to see all of you back this fall, especially for Georgia Tech's home football games. Our Alumni Dinner program is being resurrected, and we hope to hear about the experiences of our alumni during their undergraduate years. I look forward to seeing you soon at the chapter house!

The Alpha Tauker is published for the alumni and friends of the Alpha Tau Chapter of Kappa Sigma Fraternity at Georgia Tech. Address changes, news items, photographs and contributions may be sent in the enclosed envelope; mailed to Kappa Sigma Fraternity, Alumni Records Office, P.O. Box 161188, Atlanta, GA 30321-9925. Better yet, go to our Web site at www.2stayconnected/ks-gt.

Sigma at West GA. He is 20 and visits Alpha Tau occasionally and calls Ed on the phone from his old room. Very cool. On May 13, 2002, Ed's son entered the Marine Corps Reserves. His daughter, now 22, goes to UGA "so shameful, lol." He is temporarily at home with a nagging disability which he is hopeful will soon go away. It has been four years. In 2001 he was able to attend the first Atlanta Alumni meeting. No one else from the '70s was there, except if you count "Sperm." He signs off, "AEKDB, y'all."

Paul S. Stewart '75 (132 River Point Dr., Suffolk, VA 23434) is director of operations for Petals, Inc. His wife Leesa and he made their 24th move in 27 years of marriage this summer from Georgia to Suffolk, VA, because of his new job with Petals, Inc. They like it there. The people are very friendly, and they are a half-hour from the beach. They have two daughters. Liz, 23, got her B.S. degree from North Georgia College and State University and is currently a student at New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary, New Orleans, LA, working toward her master of divinity degree. Cristi, 22, received her AA degree in journalism from Gainesville College and is currently a junior at North Georgia College and State University, Dahlonega, GA, working toward her BA in Art Education. Leesa is enjoying being a housewife after working 27 years as a dental hygienist. Petals, Inc. is a catalog business offering silk flower arrangements and home decorations.

Steve L. Carter '84 (3222 Symphony Woods Dr., Charlotte, NC 28269-0402; cartergang@carolina.rr.com) says, "Long time, no see!" and reports that the above address is new contact info for him and his family—wife Pauline, son Will (9) and daughter Dory Ann (5).

Thomas R. Blenk, Jr. '85 (2460 Peachtree Rd., Atlanta, GA 30305; tblenk@agconsult.com) has recently been promoted to CFO of AG Consulting, an HR and finance consulting company. As a result, Tom will be moving back to Atlanta, and looks forward to reconnecting with Alpha Tau alumni.

William J. Fitzgerald '87 (210 Kilbreck Dr., Cary, NC 27511; billfitzx@aol.com) is now working at Channel Master LLC as director of program management and living with Suzanne and Buster in Cary, NC.

Robert "Robb" C. Stanek '90 (5127 Stonewood Cir., Mableton, GA 30126-1956; rstanek.ae90@gtalumni.org) is now working for Harris Publishing as client relations manager. Harris is known for its college and alumni directories, and Robb works in the Internet Services division. He spends most of his spare time training for and participating in adventure races.

Richard L. Kimball III '91 (1865 Claremont St., Atlanta, GA 30318; rkimball@na.cokecce.com) is a senior database administrator for Coca-Cola Enterprises. He and Claire are delighted to announce the birth of their first child, daughter Reece Elizabeth, weighing in at a "whopping" 4 lbs. 15 oz., who was born on March 19, 2001.

William V. Chafin '93 (16 Foxdale Ct., Aiken, SC 29803-9450; wchafin@mindspring.com) and his wife Amber are pleased to announce the arrival of a son (their second child) on December 12, 2001. Reid William Chafin joins his sister Emily in their home in Aiken, SC.

Mark T. Singleton '93 (1953 Hedge Brooke Pl., Acworth, GA 30101-7104, 770-427-2867; hmsingle@logicsouth.com) and his wife Harriett have recently relocated to Atlanta. Mark is now working for Vulcan Performance Chemicals where he is a senior process engineer.

David B. Henry '94 (1206 Lady Hawk Pl., Lawrenceville, GA 30043; dhenry@lpagroup.com) is a senior project engineer for The LPA Group, Inc. His second daughter, Davis Bennett, was born July 24, 2001.

Bob H. Sun '94 (955 Autumn Close, Alpharetta, GA 30004; bob_sun@hotmail.com) is a portfolio manager for Sun Rise Investments. He was married on June 2, 2001, to Michelle Tan from Los Angeles, CA.

David Archer '96 (6550 Little Mill Rd., Gainesville, GA 30506; davearcher@mindspring.com) reports that the Alpha Tau Alumni Team went undefeated in the 2002 Kappa Sigma Softball Classic, hosted by the undergrads. (See full story on page 1.)

Keith R. Rothwell '96 (2331 Milstead Cr. NE, Marietta, GA 30066; rothwell9276@aol.com) is a project manager with Post Properties. He and Shelly are happy to announce the birth of their first child, Anderson Ryan, on September 28, 2001.
